

History

In 1966, Larry Ridgeway, CEO, moved to Florence, SC and founded Florence Paper Company, Inc. The company continued to grow as a manufacturer of specialty paper packaging products. In 1994, Amspak moved from Florence to Hartsville and in 1997, our company changed it's name to American Spool & Packaging, Inc.

American Spool & Packaging, Inc.
 Since 1966

Six printing presses of varying size and format capabilities (including narrow and mid-web flexography, offset and letterpress) give AMSPAK great flexibility in meeting a variety of print requirements. We have the ability to do much of our prepress and plate making in-house. Our printing capability is complemented with five die cutters, three of which are Bobst. For finishing folding cartons, AMSPAK has three folder-glueers, including straight line, auto-bottom, and four-corner and six-corner capabilities. We also have four tube winding lines and seven tube re-cutters.

AMSPAK's biggest asset is our personal service. Our employees have long understood our responsibility to provide the quality products and service you deserve. You'll find us large enough to serve you; yet, small enough to appreciate your business. Thank you again for your consideration of AMSPAK as a potential supplier!
